Instruments and Systems
A whole new dimension of precision for your practice
Constant training and education is a key for business success. Although already an expert in your area of expertise, we all need ongoing training to refresh our knowledge, to get to know new technologies, products or industry standards, as well as to develop and maintain our sales and consultation skills.

Are you looking for general information regarding optical phenomena or the science of optics? Do you want to learn more about ZEISS products and instruments? Do you want to know how to use ZEISS optical measurement devices? Would you like to get some sales advice? ZEISS Academy Vision Care provides you with an attractive training offer of seminars, webinars and online trainings.
More than 160 years of optical expertise

Founded more than 160 years ago, ZEISS has become one of the world’s leading optics companies. Today, you can build your success on our legacy of excellence.

- ZEISS camera lenses were used during the moon landing and to shoot many Hollywood movies.
- 35 Nobel Prize winners have used ZEISS microscopes in their research.
- ZEISS semiconductor manufacturing technology forms the basis of our digital age.
- ZEISS medical systems are also used in over two thirds of all cataract surgeries.

Our partners benefit from our knowledge that goes back to the very beginning of the optics industry.
